THE NEW CENTRE WILL:

- Support Children with Autism

Autism affects 1 out of 48 children and 1 in 29 boys. Individuals with autism may have cognitive disabilities, sensory problems and challenging behaviours.

- Strengthen Families

Reach recognizes the fundamental, life-long role of parents and that the most effective way to provide support is to enable and empower families. We grow family capacity with education and family-centered and responsive service, ensuring families experience success and that each child is given the opportunity to reach their full potential.

- Help Children Grow

REACH has been helping children with Autism since our inception with intensive interventions and behaviour support. These programs improve the quality of life for children with autism and their families.

- Complement Existing Services

The prevalence of Autism and special needs is growing and many children are not receiving the support they need (15% of the population has special needs). A new Surrey Centre for Autism and Child Development will complement and build on existing infrastructure to meet these important needs of children and families in in Surrey.

ABOUT REACH

Reach Child and Youth Development Society (REACH) has been providing services to children and their families since 1959. Over 1,000 children and their families benefit from REACH programming each year.

REACH strives to build communities where all individuals and their families are welcomed, included and leading lives of well-being, based on their own individual strengths, interests, and values.

In 2018, REACH completed an extensive $5.7 million capital campaign to build a Child Development Centre in the heart of Ladner. We are excited to address the critical needs of families in Surrey with a new centre for Autism and Child Development.
